COMMENT OF

Persian Oil -LR Monnaudkh's stubborn retuent to accept a comcomine to his original nationalisation ultimatum to the Angio-Iranian Oil company in 1961 has cost rersin an estimated £210 million in oil revenues in the last three years. It has taken that country to the verge of economic ruin and only a miracle has kept it from failing into the nanda of the Tudeh (Communist) Pancy. The Persians can thank their lucky stars for two things: (1) the advent of their new Premier, Zahedi who was realistic enough to accept negotiation with the Western oil companies as the only solution to the country's dilemma and (2) the sheet benevolence of the West to conclude the agreement announced on Thursday, For America, which was represented in the negotiations by five of its biggest by an oil glut at moment and its companies have been cutting back to check the accumulation Dr Mossadegh's first ex- nations, including Western Germany. hibition of truculence in siderable expansion in the peace deadline on July 20. output of other oil fields, particularly in the Middle East. Paris, Aug. 6. The French Premier, Pierre Mendes-France, today made another "date with destiny" when he accepted August 24 for the beginning of momentous debate on the European Army, which for over two years, no French Government has dared to submit for ratification.

It thus seems certain that by the end of this oil companies, is hard hit month France will have accepted, rejected or amended the EDC treaty.

Hongkong Beaten In Bowls

Vancouver, Aug. 6. South Africa beat Hong-kong 21-18 in a vital match today of the rink bowls competition in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games.

The win put the South Africans at the head of the standings with six wins and one tie. It was Hongkong's first defeat after six straight victories. Hongkong scored four shots on the 18th end to break a 14-14 deadlock and take an 18-14 lead.

It looked as if Hongkong was not for its seventh triumph but the Springboks came back well with Wilfred Randall, the skip, scoring four shots on the 21st end after Raoul da Luz, Hongkong skip, had faltered for practically the first time in the tournament,-Reuter, Washington, Aug. 6. The United States Secretary of State, Mr John Foster Dulles, has proposed that Burma and the non-Communist areas of Indo-China should be included in the area to be protected by a Southeast Asian defence organisation (SEATO) against Communist aggression, it was disclosed today. Mr Dulles made the proposal when he appeared at a private meeting of the Senate Approrriations Committee on July 21.

Plans for setting up SEATO are now in progress, between the United States and its Western and Asian allies. A formal treaty conference is expected to be held in the Philippines carly next month.

His testimony was released to-

Mr Dulles told the Committee he believed there was a good chance of preventing a "major disaster following the loss of northern Vietnam in Indo-China to the Vietminh.

When chimpanzee star, J. Fred Muggs, arrives in Hongkong on Monday he will suffer no indignities as far as quarantine officials are concerned—for they see no reason why he should be locked up.

The senior Veterinary Officer, Lt Colonel J. C. Rix told the China Mail last night that dogs brought in by oversous visitors were quarantined, because there was a fear of introducing rables in the Colony.

since seen larger ones, and they are by no means rare in most tropical countries. During the day they are dwellers in dark places—under the earth or fallen trees, beneath bark or, erpecially, in the bases of palm fronds-but at night they roam about all over the place. One of their favourite retreats are the thatched roofs of native-built houses in the tropics, and one has to be exceedingly careful when moving furniture and other objects in such dwellings.

Oentipodes belong to a group of animals known to scientists as chilopods, or literally "the marginal-footed ones," because their many pairs of legs-ranging from a dozen to forty-four -are placed along the sides or margins of their bodies. They are distantly related to the insects, spiders, and creatures like lobsters and crabs, but they are more ancient beasts; in fact, they represent the descendants of some of the first creatures that crawled out of the sea on to dry land. They are found all over the world and they are all CHORTLY after dusk, wood fire. As his leg went in beasts of prey, feeding on other

The poison is manufactured in special glands lying within the bodies of the centipodes, and is injected into their prey through perforated jaws or "nippers" lying under the head and just behind the mouth. These sickle-shaped pincers work horizontally from either side, and among the giants of the tropics may measure almost half on inch in length. QTARR made a second landing in France in 1943 as organiser of a sabotage group in the Dijon area. He was ambushed and arrested by the Germans, and spent the rest of the war as their prisoner.

On his return, after the war, he wrote a report on what he had learned of the nctivities of the German Security Police during I year's stay at their Paris headquarters.

He had learned that the Germans were regularly operating the radio sets of captured agents. They were using them to arrange rendezvous for new agents sent out from London. The

Miss Overton Fuller, after inquiries from British, French and German witnesses, has reached the grim conclusion that the French Section found Starr's account of their blunders embarrassing, and used him as

KEPT AWAY

Cuthbert Danson is 67 years old and after a long cricketing career in the Liverpool district he finally put away his flannels last season.

But his club Orton is reviving popular feature of the club's pre-war activities and Cuthbert could not be kept away. Included in the party is his butsman son Peter.

It was only last season that Mr Danson took six for 36 while the previous season, just after his 66th birthday, he captured all ten wickets in an innings.

In England now it rains, the poor Pakistanis bat on "sticky" wickets and the entire nation argues over the coming Australian tour. The selection of Len Hutton as captain-which I believe was never in doubt-has settled one argument, while the manager is to be Mr Geoffrey Howard, secretary of Lancashire, and George Duckworth is baggage master and scorer.

The old hands of the English team 'will sorely miss Bill Perguson who missas his first major tour in the capacity of scorer and baggage master since

I understand he is now busy in his home at Sydney writing a book of his life. It should be an epoch-making publication, for not only has "Fergie" known them all intimately but his records and churts, and the little sketches he made, should form have always admired. Young Jim Parks has eileket methods, fewer cricketers record last summer when he Alf Gover, the former Surrey developed into a safe slip fielder, an intriguing feature.

But Edrich did not even flinch, most critical and he stayed long enough to prevent defeat for Middlesex. Within three days the return match took place at Northampand the duel between Edrich and Tyson was resumed: Edrich, getting his body right behind the ball and his head over it, scored a century. What a grand fighter is Edrich. The progress of Tyson continues to alert attention. For sheer shock tactics and explosive speed he is, beyond question, the quickest bowler in England and perhaps even in the world. He has long 'legs and arms, and finds it a problem to get into his full stride as he races to the wickey to batsment deliver the ball. Last year he started his run with a round about walk. This season he has developed a professional staff.

His batting is also highly promising, although many are wondering if his orthodox runskitting style may sap some of the energy he needs for his high speed bowling. It must tell, in my view, in the end. TEST DEBUTS

THE AMERICAN PGA'S FIVE OFFICIAL POINTS OF THE GOOD GOLF SWING

BERNARD HUNT

For many years the American professional golfers have been considered well ahead of the tournament players in England. And I suppose we must give that wonderful little man Ben Hogan a special niche of his own. But I believe the over-all difference has been narrowed so much in recent years that it is now right down to the mere width of that four-foot putt I missed on the 18th green in the Ryder Cup at Wentworth last year. If I had sunk that we would have held the Americans in the match, Many people since then have asked me about that putt, and all I can say is that it was a rank bad one -- one I would reckon to sink nine times out of ten. Could you tell why or how you hit a bad putt? I don't think you could, and I certainly can't tell you why I hit that one badly. Some people say it was because the "heat" was on. Maybe. It would be stupid for me to argue. All I can say is that I have hit putts when the heat has been on before, and I have hit them a darned sight better than that one. nasty dreams about that putt of greater accuracy in short tion needed to get our top so I propose to leave it behind pitching and putting,

Rare Character

By ARCHIE QUICK

Derbyshire County Cricket Club possesses a rare character in programme seller Charlie Watson. This exprivate of the Lincolnshire was 70 years old the other day, and the first two greets ing cards he received were from his "Mum" and "Dad" in Grantham! They are 98 and 95 respectively !!

Charlle, white-haired, ruddycheeked, always smiling, is as hale and hearty as he is popular the Derby, Chesterfield, Ilkeston, Burton and Buxton grounds. He lives at 77, Westbury Street, Derby, has twelve years' Regular service to his cridit, was in India for seven years and in World War I on the Somme. He has since been a postman, and now in wintertime he is a gardener. His father and mother are equally Derbyshire Secretary Mr W T. Taylor—fifty years with the club—tells me the rain this summer has cost the club nearly £4,000 in lost "gates." lie also told me that when wicket-keeper Charlie Dawkes shortly completes his 10,000th run in first class cricket he is to be the recipient of a specially made but by a Chesterfield supporter in that line of business.

I also heard that, for the first time, Yorkshire CCC are to play a county match at Middlesborough the season after next. This North-East corner of England is cricket-starved.

MOST INTERESTING

Perhaps the most interesting cricketer in the Derby eleven is Derek Morgan, This ex-Public Schoolboy, who later went to London University, turned his back on an engineering career to become a professional cricketer, but he gained his ambition the hard way. Born at Muswell Hill, he had a birth qualification for Middlesex: They gave him a trial and he heard no more. His school was in Hertfordshire, but before he could accept a Minor Counties offer he was whipped away by National Service to Derbyshire. Stationed at Hilton, he rose to be a sergeant in the Artillery. The County authorities gave him a trial, made him an offer which he accepted and neither club nor player has since regretted the contract.

Sandwiched between the Middlesex and Derbyshire trials and the Hertfordshire offer was also a trial by Northamptonshire, and they, like his native county, were not interested. Magnificently built, he is now one of Derbyshire's four-pronged battery of fast bowlers -Jackson, Gladwin and Eaton are the others—and if Derbyshire should win the County Championship (their only successes have been in 1874 and 1936) it will be this speed attack more than the batting which will have been responsible. Jackson is second in the averages, Gladwin eighth, Morgan 22nd.

Morgan has played for the Public Schools at Lord's and Northern Command. has played Soccer for Oxford City in the Isthmian League and Banbury Spencer in the Birmingham Combination and has appeared as centre three-quarter for Derby Rugby Club!

A RACING "FROGMAN"

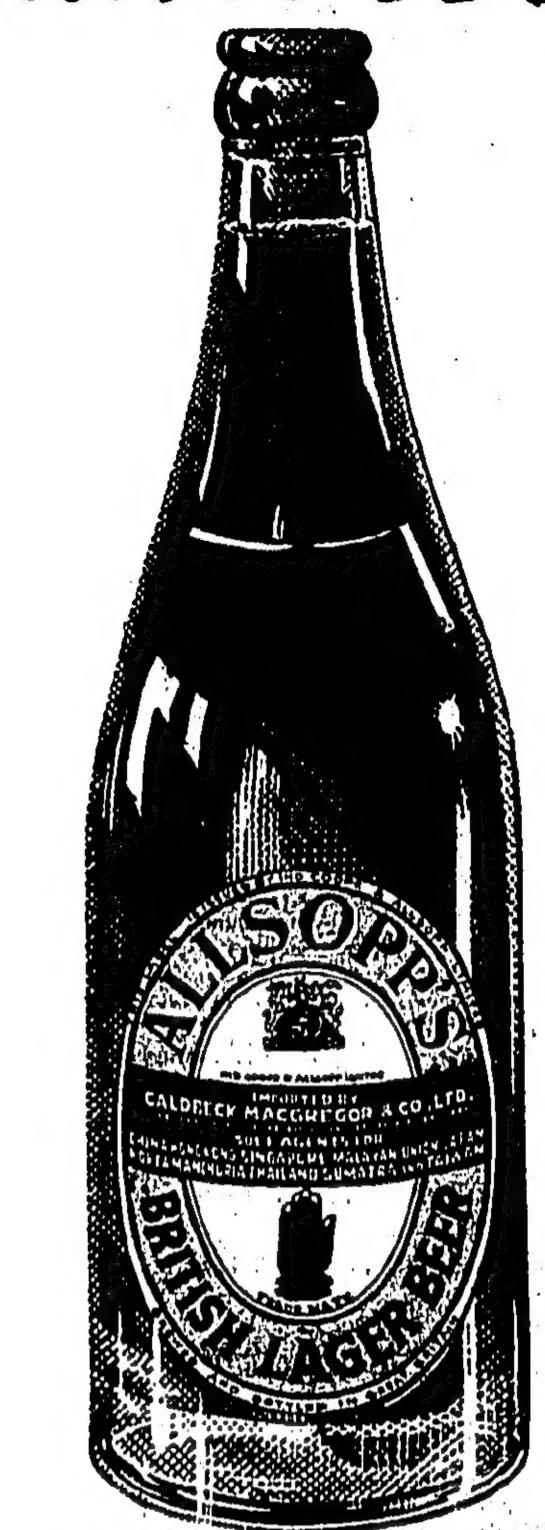

Alan Hime of London was a surprise selection for the England team at Vancouver in the Empire Games. Hime, 25year-old, 220 Yards Breast Stroke swimmer, was also a surprise to the officials because of his methods during the trials at Blackpool. With a third of the bath to complete as a last lap, Hime turned, dived and remained under water the whole length. He was quite entitled to do so, but the surprise element almost "pipped" National Champion Peter Jarvis on the post,

YOUR BIRTHDAY ...

SATURDAY, AUGUST 7

DORN today, you have a great enthusiasm for life. Your sense D of humour is usually bubbling over and you enjoy having a tot of netivity around. If there isn't enough going on where you ere then you're just the one to start something! You were never one to follow in the path of conventional actions, and even if you do listed in an ordinary job you are likely to discover a new and different way of doing it. This originality is fine if you are not held, back by someone who does not understand this side of your niture. If you do get in such a position-get out of it as soon as possible, for you will never be a real success until you are allowed to do things in your own way.

Your charm and personal magnetism will place you in the centre of any group in which you move. Just see to it that you the not waste more energy than you should in pleasure, neglecting work which needs to be done.

You have a real talent for knowing how to make money: You seem to be able to judge a good investment the moment it presents itself. Faced with the offer of two jobs, your instinct will always tell you which one will offer the best opportunity Fond of your own home and very affectionate by nature, you should wed while still young.

Among those who were born on this date are Remaid Werrenrath, singer, Billie Burke, actress, Lawton Parker, portrait pointer; Powell Clayton, early governor of Arkansas, DORN today, you have that combination of sensitivity, drama-D and imagination that should make you a good writer, play wright-or even an actor or actress. Your versitility needs to be channelled into one concentrated field, however, if you are to benefit from it as much as you should. To diversify your gifts: too widely will make you a chaiming, cultured "Jack of all arts" -but a master of none in particular. Early in life, select what you want most of all to do and then go about achieving it. With this attitude, your success should be outstanding, it will bring you fame and perhaps a fortune-as well!

Derby's Bold Gamble Fails London, Aug. 6.

Derbyshire, desperately in need of 12 points from their match with Gloucestershire to cut Torkshire's lead in the county cricket champion ship, made a bold gamble at Chesterfield today. They declared 116 behind the Gloucestershire's first innings total although with two wickets remaining. The West country side responded by setting them a task. But over anxious, Derby failed in their second innings and were beaten by
